About BONGAIGAON

Bongaigaon is a major city in the Indian state of Assam. Its urban area spans across Bongaigaon and Chirang district. The city also serves as the gateway of the North-East Frontier Railway Zone with its New Bongaigaon Junction railway station, the second biggest railway station in North-East India. It also acts as the district headquarters of Bongaigaon district and commercial and industrial hub of the west part of the state of Assam. Bongaigaon is one of the most populated urban agglomerations in Assam, alongside Guwahati, Jorhat, Dibrugarh and Silchar.

Bagheswari Hill

Bagheswari hill, situated in the middle of the city, has a Shiv temple at its peak, and elevated views of the whole city.

Kakoijana Forest Reserve

A golden langur in Kakoijana reserved forest covering an area of around 20 km<sup>2</sup> to the south-east of the city, the park is known for its populations of golden langur and birds.

Koya Kujia lake

Koya Kujia Eco Park, a natural body of water converted into an eco park by the district rural development agency of Bongaigaon, is a tourist attraction situated near Abhayapuri about 15 kilometers from Bongaigaon, open since September 2008. The park consists of many small islands with myriad flora and fauna, including many migratory birds.

Bagheswari Temple

Bagheswari Temple is a temple devoted to Goddess Durga for followers of the Hindu religion in Western Assam. The temple is located in the centre of the city, in Borpara. According to legend, the king of Abhayapuri decided to build a temple after a sword was found at the site. The name of the temple means "devoted to the tiger" (Bagh), taken from a nearby hill, Bagheswari pahar, where tigers lived as late as the middle of the 20th century.

Manas National Park

Bongaigaon city is the entry point for the Manas National Park and wildlife sanctuary, a UNESCO listed natural World Heritage Site, a Project Tiger reserve, an elephant reserve and a biosphere reserve. Located in the Himalayan foothills, it is contiguous with the Royal Manas National Park in Bhutan. The park is home to rare and endangered endemic wildlife such as the Assam roofed turtle, hispid hare, golden langur and pygmy hog, and is well-known for its population of wild water buffalo.
